Freelance Work Experience

Freelance Graphic Designer + Photographer

2015 - Present

Initially started as a personal tech blog (The Gud1) in 2013, I use the name now to personally brand myself and my work. I've worked on designing logos and editorial designs as well as on event and baby photo-shoots.

Street Photography is one type of photography I've always drawn to at the end. It is about understanding the different location I go to and create a connection with the culture and people of that place.
